Phil Chalmers’ “True Lies” student assembly is designed to challenge and shock students as he shares his passion about bullying, violence, and his love for this generation. Author of “Inside the Mind of a Teen Killer” and host of “Killer Teens” on the Biography channel, Chalmers does not teach the students about juvenile homicide in his assemblies. Instead, he focuses on teen destructive decisions and shows the consequences of making poor choices. This fast-paced and funny assembly will get students thinking about the decisions they will be making in middle school and high school. Topics covered are numerous, and include sexual abstinence, avoiding drug use, the dangers of drunk driving, the dangers of using tobacco, violence prevention, the dangers of bullying, teen suicide, violent entertainment, online dangers, crime prevention, and how to respect yourself and other students.

Student Assembly
Chalmers will hold a morning session for the sixth grade and an afternoon session for the seventh and eighth grade students combined. The presentation will contain compelling photos demonstrating the effects of substance abuse, shocking videos, arrest and prison photos, as well as some crime scene photos.

Parent Presentation
The parent presentation will address the same issues as the student assembly. Students are asked not to attend this presentation as the content will contain graphic material.
